

Why consider me:

- Do you want to take over the world with existing or new offerings and strategy, and deliver?
- Do you want to transform, turn around a legacy portfolio into a new, modern, competitive story, and deliver?
- Do you want to define a new portfolio that can delight existing customer and win new ones?
- Do you want to innovate to target or create a new market or push a new technology, in ways that will not only create the market but also take a significant market share?
- Do you want to ensure that your designs, architecture and strategy are technically sound, and otherwise fix the potential challenges, and deliver?

In any of the domain of expertise. I have a track record to become an expert in a new area, or market within short time and contribute new approaches. In fact using lessons from on field in another is one of my classical approach. For example, IT and internet approaches for Telecom and IoT.

It probably does not hurt that I can help you build a strong IP portfolio with essential claims.
